FOREVER
I want to be...
YOUNG

"Just some picture perfect day
to last a whole lifetime.
And it never ends
cause all we have to do is hit rewind."

- Jay Z, "Forever Young"

253-272-2216 www.aw.org Enrollment: 492

Annie Wright Schools

827 N. Tacoma Ave.

Tacoma, WA 98404

What does mean to you?

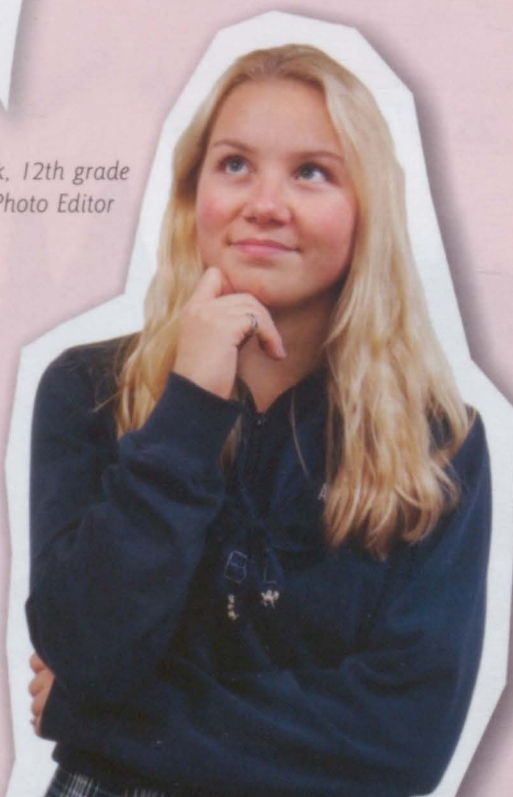

"Forever young is not about age, instead, it is about ones attitude towards things they experienced. Everyone can be forever young if he or she has a happy mind and always keeps a positive attitude. Laugh and enjoy being young forever."

*Lily Li, 11th grade
Yearbook Business Manager*

"To me forever young means living life to the fullest and taking advantage of all the opportunities that you have now, because later in life you may not have the same chances. Forever young is about keeping a young mindset that you can do anything, at whatever age you are physically. "

*Emma Bock, 12th grade

Forever Young

"I always want to be considered young, whether it is by age or by attitude. To be young means to see the joy in small things and making the most out of everyday. It means approaching situations with excitement and hope. I can't be young forever but I can be forever young."

*Mrs. Weston
Yearbook Adviser*

"It's hard to find any bad things about being young forever and living through this rebellious phase my entire life. I want to be forever young."

Ayiana Honeysuckle-Heimbuch, 9th grade Yearbook "Thinker"

Learning Specialist*

Yellow Tie Cosette Williamson and Red Tie Rachel Wasyluka were great ducks during the Upper School orientation.

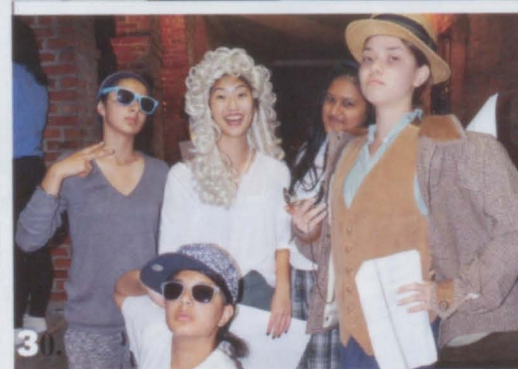

"Every year the dorm parents plan Annie Olympics. It's a great way for the girls to run around, be crazy, and have fun."

Kiki Keithly, Dorm Parent

Mrs. Billings' advisory group makes an enthusiastic Seahawks huddle.

1. Natalie Nygren gives a great performance as Annie's ghost. The tradition of Annie's ghost making an appearance during campfire and before that, Annie's birthday party, has been around for a long time. This year's predictions included Mr. Bates announcing his retirement again and the yellow ties becoming a black tie class.

2. Blue tie, Harman Narwal, acts like a boy for a campfire skit. All the girls went crazy when he walked in.

3. Jagmit Dhami, Soojin Ann, Maya Arigala, Josie Tiffany, and Harman Narwal pose as their roles in campfire. Jagmit was Jeff Barber, Soojin was Mrs. Schwartz, Harman was the boy and Mr. Swenson, Maya was a student and Josie was Mr. Sidman.

4. Mr. Sidman and his mini me, Josie Tiffany, twin for the camera with tea cup and pocket watch in hand.

5. Seniors Virginia Walkey and Madison Archuleta are preppy and nerdy cheerleaders at campfire! "I was super nervous because I had never heard the songs before campfire but I'm glad I didn't mess up," said Madison.

5. Annie's angsty teens make a feisty debut at the costume showdown.

The Upper School Orientation is made up of many traditions such as Annie Olympics, Campfire, and Annies Vs. Gators. Annie Olympics consists of each advisory group dressing up in costumes and competing against other advisory groups in various activities. One of the most competitive activities is the costume contest.

Campfire is a senior-led show that the students put together, which is a series of skits of teachers and their well-known quirks. This is a long-standing tradition that all students look forward to throughout their four years here at Annie Wright.

Another favorite activity is Annies Vs. Gators. During this, a few students are picked as the Gators and run around the school in search for the Annies. The Annies are allowed to hide and run anywhere they can to get away from the Gators. If an Annie is caught, they now become a Gator and attack the other Annies. After an hour all survivors are winners! This year there were several winners.

The fourth graders went on an amazing adventure this year to Mount Rainier. The focus of this field trip was primarily on making sure the kids "gel together" and less focused on academics. The rangers at the mountain gave the kids various activities to help them understand how mountains are formed. They learned a lot about the flora and fauna of the area. It was overall a great experience for everyone to get outside, work together, and learn about Mount Rainier.

- 1 A group of Kindergarteners experience how people in the 1800s washed their clothes with washboards and buckets at the Pioneer Living Experiences at Pioneer Farms.
- 2 Fourth graders Avery Leone and Isabella Mulhall explore the trails at Mount Rainier.
- 3 Dylan Kenney attempts to carve wood as the pioneers did in the 1800s.
- 4 Silas Stokes and Elijah Mathisen observe the diagram of Mount Rainier.

The kindergarten classes took an interesting detour to the 1800s as they visited and explored Pioneer Farms. Pioneer Farms is a living and interactive museum, which displays life in the 1800s. The kindergarteners were able to experience the traditions and culture from this time period, such as grinding corn to make cornmeal, not being able to sit next to the opposite gender, and not being allowed to get dirty. The goal for this interesting field trip was for the kids to compare and contrast their lives in 2016 to what it was like for kids their age in the 19th century.

But first, let us take a selfie.

"There is not a singular word to capture the phenomenal red tie retreat. Tears from laughter and joy ran down everyone's cheeks that weekend as we worked through various activities and special bonding moments. As a cabin leader, I was able to share similar experiences and partake in many activities with the red ties. However, I was also able to take a step back and watch each of my cabin members grow and learn with the support of one another and loved ones.

Although the camp had many serious moments where students (including myself) had time to reflect, there were also times when we were encouraged to be crazy, loud, and strengthen our teamwork skills. I think that one of my favorite memories from camping was playing Capture the Flag in the mud. Because the field was so saturated and muddy, girls were sliding and slipping at every turn (literally), which led to much laughter and amusement by everyone.

Overall I believe that this retreat vastly strengthened the compassionate red tie class as a whole, and everyone ended the weekend wishing it could be longer."

Global Fest Upper School wide international symposium that ran March 7-8, was a collaborative deep dive into a topic of cultural and global significance. This 48-hour experience embodied our AWS mission to cultivate "responsible citizens for a global society" and our IB commitment to International Mindedness, and was a living tribute to the inquiry, collaboration, and student-driven design that so characterizes our classrooms. The theme for this inaugural year was "Beauty and the Beast: Standards of Beauty and Alternative Aesthetics Across the Globe." Through student-presented workshops, guest speakers, a hands-on Makers Fair, an international film festival, language labs, and more, students and faculty joined together to share and celebrate culture, to ask big questions, and to foster stronger community and deeper intercultural understanding.

This is Winnie Qin and Rina Wang's third Thanksgiving dorm dinner at Annie Wright. They both loved the sweet potatoes and marshmallows together. "This is not something found in my hometown Chengdu, China," said Rina. Rina also said that even though deeply in love with spicy food, she enjoyed this sweet dish.

A teacher or a faculty member hosts every dinner table. Dormers are randomly assigned to these tables, and every year, some students have the honor to sit with Mr. Sullivan, the headmaster of the school and enjoy the dinner as a family together. In the pictures are (left to right) green ties Ellie Hughes, Faye Prekeges, Simran Rakhra, Jolie Heerema, Lauren Donoso, Mr. Sullivan, Eliana Sunderland and Tana-Isabela Anulacion.

Seniors get excited for this honor long before the dinner night; at the same time, many of them admit that it is indeed not an easy task. Minsu Kim, a junior, also shared the fun and offered to take on this challengingly fun activity.

The Middle School Holiday Tea is an annual tradition that involves celebrating the festive season with tasty treats, Mr. Rockne and Mr. Price's hilarious storytelling, musical entertainment from Middle School Orchestra and Chorus, and ending in the singing of the Annie Wright adapted Twelve Days of Christmas.

The Great Hall is beautifully decorated and each table is a mix of grades 6, 7, and 8, allowing students to mix across the grades and with different teachers. This is truly a highlight of this time of year and much fun is had by all!

1 Holly Shadko is reaching for a ball in the air. This is Holly's first year on the volleyball team. She has had tons of fun during this season.

2 Allison Fitz is a freshman on the team. According to her teammates, even though Allison's height does not stand out in the team, she is very powerful and an excellent over-hand server.

3 Amy Hou is described by her teammate as a competitive player always full of confidence. We wish Amy, a dedicated volleyball player, all the good luck in her future seasons.

4 Rachel Holland has a cheering and supportive personality. "She always has a smile on her face during games no matter if we are winning or losing," said Rachel's teammate, Lillian Li.

5 Lexy Sullivan, Harmeet Dhami, Jasmine Kennedy, Ashley Kovalik, and Samantha Hall are showing us their school spirit, and it is easy to tell that they are not any less intense and excited than the players on the court.

6 Lillian Li comes from Chengdu, China. The "sportsman gene" runs in her family. To Lillian, however, volleyball means much more than a sport. She learns life lessons playing volleyball, has overcome both physical and mental challenges over the past four years of playing, and has found the team to be another family she belongs to.

What was your favorite part OF THE SEASON?

"Winning a game! I love being a part of a team and spending time with people who share the same passion as me."

Tana Givens, 12th Grade

"My favorite part of the season was seeing everyone improve and all of us coming together as a team."

Cate Farrell, 11th Grade

"We won a game, which we haven't done in a while and it was really cool!"

Phoebe Brown, 10th Grade

"Soccer helped me become a team player and meet new people."

Mariella Beurpere, 10th Grade

Both team captains, Emma Bock and Tana Givens, have been playing soccer with Annie Wright since Lower School. A tradition on the Annie Wright soccer team is to nominate only seniors for the captain positions. These two were an obvious choice due to their immense passion for the sport, as well as their dedication to all the team members. Throughout the season they acted as natural born leaders and helped the team in numerous ways. For example, a large amount of the students on the team had little to no experience. Both Emma and Tana lead their team in an effortless way and made a hard job look easy.

1 In honor of the last game of the season, lower classmen decorated the bus for the seniors.

2 Senior Emma Bock takes a powerful goal kick.

3 Sophomore, Rachel Wasyluka, charges the ball down the field.

2 Rachel Wasyluka takes a step to powerfully kick the ball.

3 Amber Moody takes a throw in during the game against Overlake.

This years' soccer season was successful in more than one way. The first being that the team won all but one game. This group of boys is also extremely compatible and has a great sense of team work on and off the field. The majority of the eighth graders have not only gone to Annie Wright since kindergarten, but have also been playing soccer together for that long as well. This tight knit community has created close team that works amazingly together. Seventh grader, Ethan Wasyluka says, "My favorite part of the season were the scrimmages during practice because I love playing with my team even if it's not competitive." Overall, these boys walked away winners in more than just the literal sense of the word.

150 Baby Pictures Guess Who?

What is your favorite part about being young?

Lauren Cook
5th grade

I don't have to worry about things as much as grown ups do, like the future.

Anna Morris
4th grade

You get to be a lot more creative when you're a kid. When you're an adult, it's hard to do that stuff.

Cooper Whittle
3rd grade

We get to learn athletics, and by learning, we get to be more body smart.

Hannah Neeves
2nd grade

I get to go to fun places like amusement parks!

Ireland Kress
1st grade

Probably that we don't have to work.

Luke Ionescu
Kindergarten

Playing dinosaurs.

Giada Sorci
Pre-Kindergarten

I like climbing rock walls.

Tommy Hanly

6th grade

My favorite thing about being a teenager is being able to buy a lot of things without paying for them.

Sonika Nigam

7th grade

I started to take more risks and ask more questions as I become a teenager.

Sophia Jeter

8th grade

The best thing about being a teenager is being young and not having to worry about earning money.

Anna Salam

9th grade

I like not being old.

Gabby Lopez

10th grade

The best part about being a teenager is being able to make memories with your friends and living in the moment.

Militsa Zaklan-Miller

11th grade

My favorite part about being a teenager is having more freedom and responsibility than ever before.

Natalie Nygren

12th grade

I enjoy having the freedom to take care of myself as a teenager.

Madison Archuleta

Madison,
It seems like just yesterday you came into this world, into our hearts, our shining star. Time has gone by so fast from the little girl that would follow us around to the young lady who is now leading the way. We are so proud of the person you have become, so proud to call you our daughter. There are no words that could express how much we love you, and how very much you mean to us. Follow your dreams and you will succeed.

Where has the time flown?

It seems like just yesterday we were welcoming you to this amazing world and walking you into Mr. Solomon's class.

Watching you grow and become a beautiful confident outspoken young lady you are today, has been a true blessing!

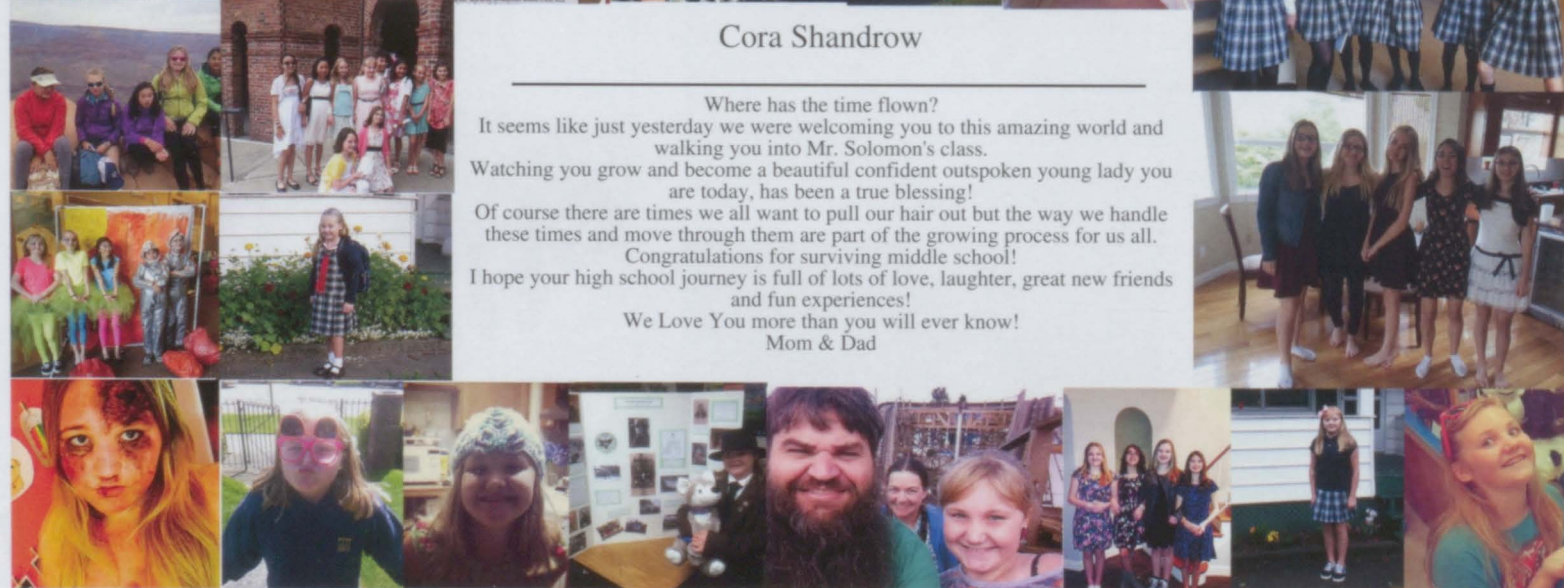

Of course there are times we all want to pull our hair out but the way we handle these times and move through them are part of the growing process for us all.

Congratulations for surviving middle school!

I hope your high school journey is full of lots of love, laughter, great new friends and fun experiences!

We Love You more than you will ever know!

Erica Greening

To our dearest daughter Erica. We couldn't be more thrilled than to say
"Congratulations" on your graduation. Dr. King says, "Faith" is being able to take the first step even when the staircase is not yet visible.
Over the years, you have embodied this philosophy on more than one occasion and overcome many challenges along the way.

You have made us all very proud.
We know that this milestone is one of many more to come but right now we celebrate this benchmark with you. We are so honored to be your parents and are proud to call you our Butterfly! We look forward to your next journey and all your future endeavors.

We Love you.

Forever ring dessert blossoms

"The theme of ring dessert this year was 'Fairy' because we wish that all the yellow ties can magically realize all their dreams in college and beyond."

Jin Huang, 10th grade

HELLO
SPRING

1 Militsa Zaklan-Miller invited her Mom to ring dessert to celebrate the end of junior year.

2 Emily Harper spends the evening with her Mom to receive her senior class ring.

1 In the picture are seniors Maya Arigala, Melody Ku, Cecilia Black, Soojin An and Laurel Fimbel. This is Laurel's first and last prom at Annie Wright. "Prom was an amazing night because of the dancing, the beautiful dresses and the wonderful people. It was a marvelous night that I will never forget," said Laurel.

2 Emma Bock, Natalie Nygren, Madison Archuleta, Cate Farrell, Caitlyn Bell, Jaskiran Pental and Erica Chen are all AWS varsity tennis team players. They decided to take a "team photo" at prom, and this time, not in uniforms.

3 Blue tie best friends Emma Bock, Madison Archuleta, Virginia Walkey, Katherine Olivieri, Noelle Dillman, and Emma Salam pose together with photobooth props to celebrate their last Annie Wright prom.

4 During the past four years, Crystal Zheng, Lillian Li and Maggie Wang have taken hundreds of selfies together. As they are about to depart for college, they are not forgetting to cherish every moment and every selfie together even more because it might be a long time before the next one is taken.

5 Hanbin Moon from Seoul, Korea, Felicia Jones from Hawaii and Caroline Dai from Guangzhou China soon became friends after they met at Annie Wright and celebrated their graduation in advance together at prom.

WHAT WOULD YOU HAVE DONE DIFFERENTLY AT PROM?

"I think it would have been fun to have dinner at prom actually."

Dara Hanson, 11th grade

"I would be more inclusive. While I'm not scared to make a fool of myself, I want to draw more people into that fun craziness!"

Rhiannon Simmonds, 9th Grade

"I would have eaten more food. I was so afraid of staining my dress that I barely ate anything. The food looked really good."

Katie Mayore, 9th Grade

"I would not have worn heels because they started to hurt after twenty minutes of dancing."

Emily Harper, 11th grade

"I would have arrived earlier so that I actually got some food."

Ivy Cai, 11th grade

"I would have taken more photos and showed up earlier."

Jasmine Kennedy, 11th grade

"I was introduced to tennis by a friend when I was 10. At the time, I was running track, but wanted to try a new sport. I'm proud of the improvements I've made throughout the years that I've been playing tennis."
Erica Chen, 9th grader

Why did you start playing that sport?

1 The Blue Tie Class of 2016 found the spade hidden by the Green Tie Class of 2015 in the trainer's room in the Kemper Gym. The girls are cheering for almost getting their senior privileges.

2 One of the senior privileges this year is that everyone has to return a senior's high five. Felicia Jones, although having never taken his classes, enjoys such friendly interaction with Mr. Swenson.

3 Crystal Zheng and Min Kim are both going to the University of Southern California for college. They wore their college shirts to take another photo in front of the bricks.

5 Mr. Sullivan is announcing the rediscovery of the spade lost in 2010, which is now truly historical.

6 Anni Liu, the green tie class president, is tying a green tie onto the spade.

SENIOR PRIVILEGES

"I was glad to finally take advantage of our privilege to have off-campus lunch on my last day of high school!"

Maggie Wang, 12th grade

Seniors can wear college shirts after spring break.

Caroline Dai, 12th grade

Seniors can have their own class shirts.

Anna Quo and Tong Wang, 12th grade

Seniors can wear black sports shoes with uniforms.

What does mean to you?

The theme of the 2016 Shield, Forever Young, was developed throughout the month of September during yearbook activity.

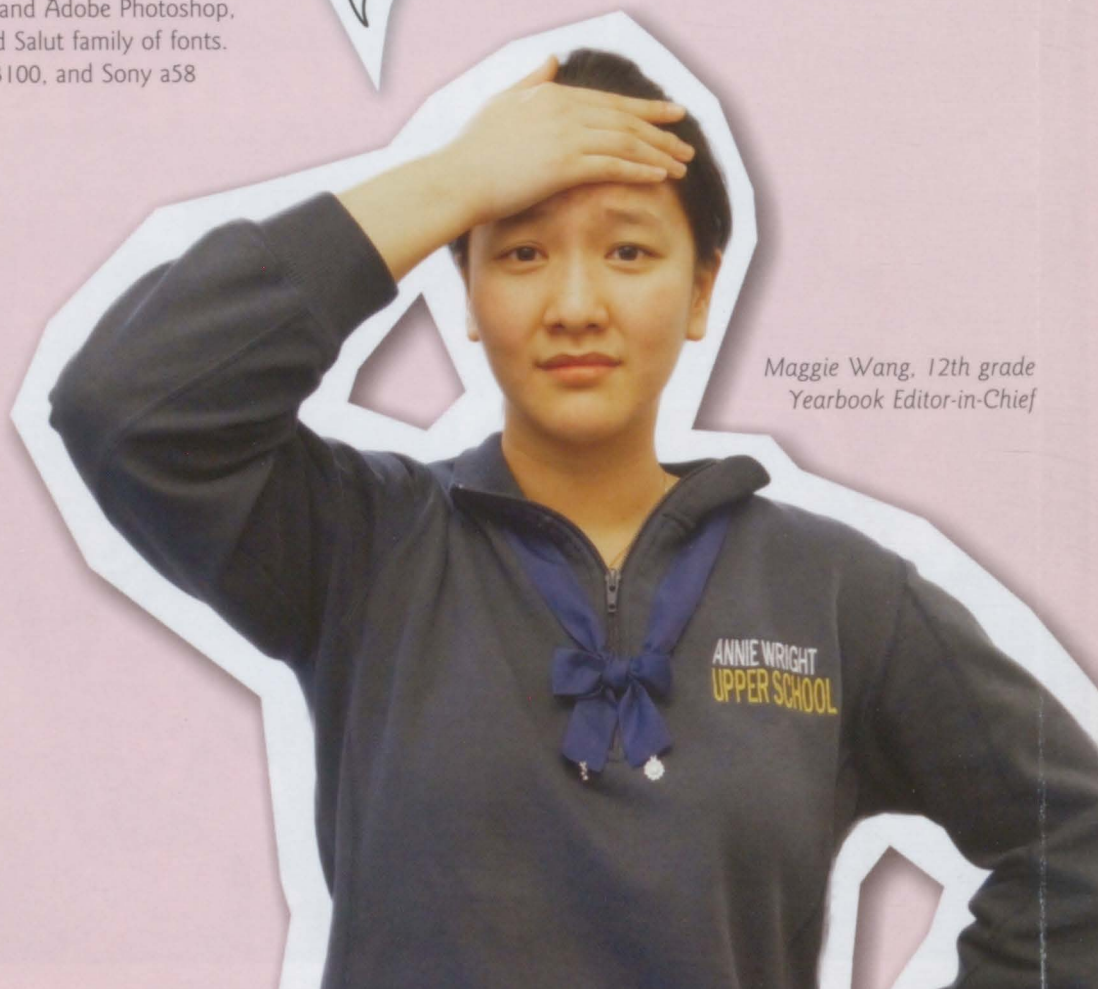

The 6 members of our staff met Tuesday through Friday after school during activity time, creating a 181-page book with a custom litho cover with Process Color 317 and 80# Shine FX. The 510 copies of Forever Young were printed at the Jostens Publishing plant in Visalia, CA. Every student at Annie Wright Schools received a yearbook this year. Funding for the yearbook was provided by tuition, personalization, recognition ads and senior pages.

Created using Jostens Yearbook Avenue and Adobe Photoshop, the staff used the Goudy Sans, Grotesk, and Salut family of fonts. The staff utilized a Nikon D3300, Nikon D3100, and Sony a58 camera.

Special thanks to Jackie and Andrew Paffrath our Jostens Sales Representative and Tina Nilo our Plant Consultant for helping us make the best book possible. Thanks to South Sound Magazine, Print NW and Springtide Press for teaching us so many things.

Madison, thanks for all your hard work and those runs down to day school to get extra pages done. Emma, thanks for your countless hours going through hundreds of photos and editing them. Ayiana, thanks for staying late so many days and diving into this craziness we call yearbook. Lily, thank you for the many emails you sent to parents and your attention to detail. Katherine, thanks for your mad editing and tagging skills. Maggie, thanks for your dedication, amazing designs and inspirational ideas.

"To grow up faster is perhaps the stupidest wish we all have ever made."

Yearbook Editor-in-Chief

Forever Young

"When I hear these two words, I think of the idea that we only live once and that some people want to live like they never grow old. I imagine the typical 'forever young' type of person to be a teenager, during the summer, maybe doing something spontaneous or childlike just because they can. Obviously this concept does not last forever, but I think people find comfort in believing there is a slight hope that it could."

*Madison Archuleta, 12th grade
Yearbook Copy Editor*

"'Forever young' means living in the moment and always enjoying the little things in life. It means having fun and not taking everything too seriously, even when you have to be old and responsible. It means having fun and remembering that life is too short to be unhappy."

*Katherine Olivieri, 12th grade
Yearbook Assistant Editor*
